When Dan and Amy went to Grace's funeral they also had an event after. They had to go into a building and learn about this challenge that can make them the richest Cabill ever, but they have to take this challenge. They could take 2 million dollars or go on the challenge, which can cause death or be the richest Cabill. Aunt Beatrice told Amy and Dan to not take the challenge and go on and take the money, but Amy and Dan wanted to make Grace proud and decided to take the Mission and the several challenges inside.

Their Aunt Beatrice was mad at them that if they didn't come home then she was going to call the police to look for them. Amy and Dan didn't care what she did all They wanted was to figure out the clues.

They finally got the clue which said:

RESOLUTION

The fine print to guess

Seek out Richard S_____.

The competition was Natalie and Ian Kabra, The Holt's family, Alistar Oh, Starling triplets, Irina, Jonah Wizard and his dad.

Amy new that in 1700 they would put their first letter of their name, only if they wanted it to be unanimous. They decided to go to Grace's library. Alistar Oh was there too. While Alistar Oh was being very annoying talking a lot, Dan saw a semble with a C in the midle E at the top with a dragon, T on the right with the bear, L on the bottom with a stick and two snakes around it, and finally a J with a wolf on the left. Dan climbed the book shelf and called Ekaterina and pressed the E and did the same with the rest. The shelf swung open and Dan almost got squished but jumped.

They went into the room and looked for Richard S. in the S section and didn't find anything, but they found Saladin, Grace's cat, on a small table. The cat was sitting on something which was a jewelry box. Inside was tons of Grace's jewelry. Amy decided to keep a necklace that was jade and had a dragon medallion in it.

Amy was just listening to Dan and Alistar Oh and remembered to go to the F's section. That is where the book was Poor Richard's Almanack by Richard Saunders. The reason it was under F's is because Richard Saunders is a pseudonym, a fake name. Amy looked threw the book and found FOLLOW FRANKLIN, THE MAZE OF BONES, written at the bottom of the page. Amy recognized the hand writting, it was her mother's because it was in purple ink and she always wrote in purple ink.

They discussed in the library for a while, but then there was white smoke across the ceiling. They couldn't find Saladin. Then Dan and Amy just went straight for the exit, but the door wouldn't open. They felt the door and it was hot, they decided to get low and try to find another exit. She scooped up the jewelry box and then she saw dragons on the floor like they were leading the way. They did lead a way, but to get out you had to go threw a small air gate. They went threw and Amy just realized that Dan had Saladin in his arms. Then they got stuck and they were blocked, but they pushed and it popped out and they went straight into a grave yard. They got up and they saw that their family mansion was burning in flames. Mr. McIntyre was lying on the ground, but then they saw a man in a black suit standing on the hill with binoculars staring at Amy and Dan. Alistair Oh drove away, and Amy and Dan went to go help Mr. McIntyre and called 911. While that happened they realized that Alistar Oh took the book and that is the only way to win mostly.

Dan and Amy were in a police car, discussing what went on. The police men dropped them off at Nellie Gomez's house which is Amy and Dan's Babysitter. Right then they new that Nellie was going to take them on the trip and around the world where they need to go.

They discussed with Nellie that they were going were ever they needed to go and she was going to baby sit them and get paid lots of money. Also they said that her aunt broke her neck so she couldn't take them. Nellie called her dad and he said it was fine, but Amy and Dan were amazed.

Amy and Dan packed there bags, but only were allowed one bag. They discussed what they were going to do which was get a hotel tonight, then fly to Philadelphia, and what ever they have to do after that.

They went to the car place and Nellie went inside and came running back with an envelope. She said that someone dropped it off this morning, but that was impossible for anyone to know where they were. The envelope was from Mr. McIntyre. It said:

Meet Me At Independence Hall This Evening At Eight, But Only If You Find The Information.

-W.M.

(P.S. Thank You For Calling The Ambulance.)

Also they got a metal cylinder thing that almost looks like a flash light. They went in the car and Nellie started to drive, but when they were on interstate 95 Amy looked behind and they were getting followed. Five cars back were the Starling's family. Nellie turned and yanked the car three lanes and lost them.

They went to the library in Philadelphia, and Amy asked the librarians for Benjamin Franklin historical documents. Amy and Dan didn't find much information so they decided to get some of his letters.

The flash light devise was actually a black light reader and reveals secret writing. The bad thing was that the librarian said that there were no secret writings there, but there was some at The Science Museum. Amy and Dan ran out of the room and went straight to The Science Museum. When they got there, there was tons of great things there, but then Amy saw the guy in the black suit that they saw earlier, and Amy and Dan took off running. They found a big stack of papers and it they looked threw them, but the fifth one they found a secret message that said:

Soon Must I Leave

This Place Of Wonder

But I Leave Behind

What Hath Driven My Clan Asunder.

After they read it out loud there was a camra flash from the Starlings. They also took the black light reader. Amy tried to warn them about the man, but they didn't believe them and tried to leave, but there was a big BOOM! Everything was shattered and the Starlings were gone. The Starlings left their cell phone and the black light reader was shattered. Amy and Dan quickly ran out of the building.

Nellie was very upset that there was a bomb, but she still drove them to the next spot. The next spot was at the Independence Hall. Nellie said that she was not going to take them any more places, but Amy and Dan convinced her to take them.

Amy and Dan went by the building where Mr. McIntyre was. He said that the starling's were out because they were in bad shape. He also said that their aunt Beatrice was looking for them and is going to find youby hiring social survice peiople.

Amy and Dan went by the building where Mr. McIntyre was. He said that the starling's were out because they were in bad shape. He also said that their aunt Beatrice was looking for them and is going to find you by hiring social service people. Amy isn't worried about that, all she wants to do is get this over with. Amy gave Mr. McIntyre the cat, Saladin because they couldn't keep him and it was to much danger. He didn't want to take the cat, but he did.

Amy and Dan decided the next place to go was to Paris. Nellie was mad that they were going to Paris, but they decided to tell her only one more trip and that is all they will do.

Alistair Oh got the book stolen from him by Ian and Natalie.

They landed at the airport and they went out and Jonah Wizard was there and poparazie. He is almost as famous as Benjamin Franklin. Jonah Wizard gave them a ride to a hotel and got out and saw that Irina had the book.

Dan and Amy followed Irina because she had the book. She kept on leaving them, walking as fast as she could. She finally stopped at a building called Institute For International Diplomacy. Amy and Dan went inside, they went around the building trying to stay away from the cameras and to be as quiet as they could. They entered a room and there was tons of swords and bombs. Dan took two things and left they saw people running after them, the people pulled a gate down and Dan and Amy went under, but not the people that were chasing after them. They saw Irina leaving the building so they went to get the information which said to go to The Ile St-Louis.

They jumped out the window and left.

They got there and they went to the cemetery and found that one of them said their names on it. Dan stepped on it and it collapsed, they fell underground and didn't get hurt. The Holts were right there looking into the hole. There was a cement truck and was going to fill the hole up. The Holts put a jacket down and brought Dan and Amy up. The Holts took the people with the cement truck and then the other two were heading right for Dan and Amy, but Dan threw a bomb and hit the Holts on accident and then also hit the other two. They ran to a building and there was no way out, the cement guys came and they took out the Franklin Battery and put it on the fence and it shocked all of them except for Amy and Dan. Amy and Dan ran as fast as they could and escaped, but the man in black was there, but along ways away watching them.

When Amy and Dan came back to the hotel Nellie was very upset, but she calmed down after a little while.

The next day Amy and Dan discussed what to do next in the morning. Then they were off to find the Maze of Bones. They found Alistar Oh, Alistar Oh told them that the Catacombs were right there and that is where you find the Maze of bones. Alistar Oh made them go to the Cafe and then let them leave.

Amy and Dan went down there with Nellie and found out that it was very dark and full of bones in the walls. They got a small flashlight from Nellie. The bones were labeled different sections, they had to find section 1804. They found numbers on the skulls on 13 skulls making a square by adding three empty skulls.

Amy could tell it is a magic box, Franklin used to make magic boxes. Natalie and Ian pop up out of no where. Natalie asked for them to move so they could take a picture, Amy said no and said if they move she will reck the wall and they would never get it. Then Alistar Oh charged in the room and knocked Natalie to the ground. It knocked the dart gun out of her hand and Ian dove after it. Amy, Dan, and Nellie raced threw the other exit. They kept running and then there light went out completely. They heard a train and then found a door and unlocked and it creaked open blinding them. It was actually a window, but they finally heard the train noise and it was shaking. The train went past in like a second, they were going to go up the rails, run to the ladder and then climb up to the platform. They had five minutes, Amy got nellie out, Amy got up, but then Dan's backpack got stuck on the rails. Amy grabbed Dan and pulled him up and they all got out safely.

They went to the cafe and ate, Dan said that the missing numbers were twelve, five, and fourteen. Amy was remembering what her grandmother said and then finally said that they need to go to the library.

They went to the library, and Amy found a grocery list and then Iron Solute was on there and they new that it was for printing and stuff like that. Then she noticed that she needed to go to church St-Pierre De Montmartre.

They went to the church and then they were in a graveyard. They were looking around and then Dan saw a tombstone that had nothing on it, they dug it up. They found a marble slab and then opened it. There was stairs leading down, they went down and saw a vase and then four people which were the different families. Then they opened the vase and there was music on it, then there was a poison in it, also said:

Sa othu gearch sith, os I gearch ethe. Sue yht slalki het urtht ot efre.

Dan noticed that it spelt something: As Thou Charge this, So I charge thee. Use thy skills the truth to free.

Then Jonah wizard came down and with his dad and the camra, but Amy told him to turn it off. They ran up the stairs and made Jonah Wizard stay down there with his dad, and then the Holts were there in an ice cream truck. Amy, Dan, and Nellie raced up into the church and then crashed into Alistar Oh, but with him was Irina. A white cube was darting right at them and so they all ducked and it hit Alistar Oh and Irina in the back of there heads.

Nellie went to go call the cops, and then Amy and Dan ran up stairs. They kept on going up and up, she made Dan stay there in a room at the top. She was going on the roof. She was at the iron lightning rod and she lashed the wire around her wrist and then sparks exploded. Dan was on the floor chocking and then Ian was standing over him. He wanted to trade Dan for the liquid and Amy made the deal. wanted to trade Dan for the liquid and Amy made the deal. All the rest of the people got arrested!

MY OPINION

This book was great because I like adventure books and also mystery. If anyone likes those types of books I recommend this book, or even if you like this book read the series. My favorite part was when they had to go threw the maze of bones, because it was described very well and I could picture it in my head, there are some parts that I couldn't visualize, like the end it was very strange. I liked this book so much that I am going to start the next book in the series. I hope you like the book!
